By Mike Roberts I recently returned a borrowed copy of this book, but decided my bookshelf wasn't complete without it. It's a treasure trove of stories, diagrams, ideas and inspiration from some of the best rodmakers in the business.....and a few lesser mortals as well. If you love bamboo fly rods and you have an inquiring mind, this book deserves a place in your library. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Rodney V Reclus Great!!!

A collection of articles, drawings, essays and anecdotes from around the world. Edited from The Planing Form, an international newsletter dedicated to crafting a bamboo fly rod.

"A splendid collection of articles from the bamboo rodmakers' newsletter of the same name. Essential reading." -- Gray's Sporting Journal, Vol 22, Issue 7, 1998, James R. Babb "Cleanly laid out, professional and rather stylish. I suspect it will become one of those musts for rod builders." -- Fly Rod and Reel Magazine, Nov/Dec 1997, Seth Norman "Want an appreciation of the carecraft that go into a cane rod, you'll find this worthwhile reading." -- Trout Magazine, Fall 1997, Peter A. Raffle, Jr. About the Author Ronald Barch: Ron is an educator who has devoted countless hours sharing his knowledge and appreciation of the natural world with young people. Ron is a dedicated environmentalist, skilled woodworker, sailor, storyteller and rodmaker. He has edited The Planing Form newsletter for the past 12 years and lives in Hastings, Michigan. Robert McKeon: Bob has owned and operated an advertising/design studio for over 30 years.
