Sabine Lohf : Building Your Own Toys (Craft Books) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Building Your Own Toys (Craft Books):

Provides instructions on how to make simple toys and games.

From School Library Journal Grade 4-8 --Originally published in Germany, these books feature interesting and tempting toy projects. Each toy (or sometimes two related toys) is explained on a two-page spread. One page offers an attractive full-color photograph of the toy; the other has somewhat sketchy instructions. They are clearly written, but, because of their brevity, are better for older children who can study the photos, compare them to the text, and fill in the details. Some of the toys are quite complicated. Most of the 29 crafts in Building Your Own Toys are made of paper and cardboard. Toys Made of Clay is for an older audience, as 13 of the 27 toys require kiln firing. Equipment includes a grill and an oven that can be used with charcoal to cook food. At odds are the instructions and photograph of a toy stove. Also, the photo shows a lighted candle, while the instructions suggest a flashlight as a stovelight. Two attractive craft books for older children. --Florence M. Brems, Huntingdon Valley Library, PA Copyright 1990 Reed Business Information, Inc. Language Notes Text: English, German (translation)
