From the AuthorEnjoy this recipe from Celebrate Winter. Overnight Pork 'n Sauerkraut 2 lb. lean pork loin, cubed 2 lb. sauerkraut, divided 2 c. onions, sliced 6 bacon slices, halved 3 c. water Brown pork in a large skillet and set aside. Place one pound of sauerkraut in a 2-quart casserole dish. Cover with one cup onion and pork. Top with remaining onions and sauerkraut. Top with bacon. Pour water over layers and bake, uncovered, at 300 degrees overnight, or about 7 to 8 hours. From the Inside FlapI came across your books while on vacation, antiquing and country shopping and immediately bought For Bees Me for a friend's birthday. She absolutely loved it! So I went and bought myself my own copy, plus Old-Fashioned Country Cookies too. Thank you for creating such wonderful books. - Sharon Meisner, Dearborn, MI I picked up a copy of Welcome Home For The Holidays, and have never seen such a wonderful cookbook. I had seen your books before and now I wonder why I waited so long! - Jamie Zimmerman, Hayward, WI
From the Back CoverDear Friend, When we first started putting together ideas for Celebrate Winter, we began to think...there really is a lot more to winter than just Christmas! What do we love about wintertime? It's that time of year when we brave the bone-chilling, icy air and delight in coming home to hot chili and a roaring fire. To us, winter is comforting, hearty foods for cold, blustery days and bright, cheerful dishes that celebrate hearth and home. It's cozy casseroles and champagne dinners...hot dogs by the fireplace, and chocolate mousse by candlelight. It's kitchen windows all frosted up from pies baking in the oven, filling your whole house with cinnamon and spice. Of course, Celebrate Winter is about Christmas, too! Cheerful cookie exchanges, jolly open houses, white linen dinners and joyful mornings. It's all here, along with fun ideas for New Year's Eve, Valentine's Day and more. You'll find recipes for all your favorite dishes, plus many new ones...and sprinkled throughout are lots of tips, traditions, decorating ideas and quick little how-to's. You're invited...come celebrate winter with us! Best of the Season, Vickie Jo Ann
