Jan Lindenberg : Collectible Ashtrays (Schiffer Book for Collectors) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Collectible Ashtrays (Schiffer Book for Collectors):

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. One flavored. By Kurt F. Basically ALL California USA vintage ashtrays. NO akros, or other REAL collectable ashtrays. If you are interested in variety you'll find much more info online. 6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. A Helpful Ashtray Collecting Resource By Beach Girl As someone who is just starting out as an ashtray collector, I found this book to be very helpful and easy to use.

Lindenberger makes a lovely presentation in that she uses excellent photographs to demonstrate examples of various types of ashtrays. Written information is limited but still quite informative. The photo quality is quite good and the suggested price guide makes collecting easy and fun. I keep this book handy for quick review after my Saturday morning yard sale attack. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four Stars By Rebecca Furlong very nice product

Ashtrays have always been popular as collectibles, as they are available in a endless variety of forms. Originally designed and manufactured to be purely functional, ashtrays soon found their way into the advertising world as both promotional items and souvenirs. This book provides an easy way to explore the collectible world of ashtrays. Over 460 beautiful color photos of unusual ashtrays and companion pieces are included to help the collectors identify and price their own finds. Filled with interesting facts, it gives insight to the evolution of ashtrays, and explains how they became such hot collectibles. The many materials used in the production of ashtrays, including glass, ceramics, and porcelain, are also discussed in the book.

About the Author Jan Lindenberger resides in Colorado Springs, Colorado. She has lived there since 1977, but she is originally from Erie, Pennsylvania, where she first became a lover of antiques and, in 1972, an antique dealer. Jan's main interest and specialty is Black Memorabilia, of which she has one of the largest known collections in the U.S.A. She has written many books and articles on such subjects as Black Memorabilia, '50s and '60s collectibles, antiques, and vintage fashion.
